

C/2012 S1 (ISON) (Comet)
 Magnitude: 7.18 Coma Diameter: 22.5' SBR: 22.6 Mag/arcsec² Earth
 Distance: 0.6 AU

This comet may not be visible!

2012 S1 (ISON) appears to have disrupted as it passed perihelion on November 28. It is not yet clear what, if anything, will be observable in December.

33° x 23°

C/2012 S1 (ISON) (Comet)
 Magnitude: 7.18 Coma Diameter: 22.5' SBR: 22.6 Mag/arcsec² Earth
 Distance: 0.6 AU

2012 S1 (ISON) appears to have disrupted as it passed perihelion on November 28. It is not yet clear what, if anything, will be observable in December.

This comet may not be visible!

